

Beef on the Road

Tires contain stearic acid, a by-product of animal fat that makes the rubber hold its shape under continuous surface friction. Even the asphalt on our roadways has a binding agent from fat.

Other products we use to get down the road are:

- Upholstery
- Hydraulic brake fluid
- Car polishes and wax
- Antifreeze